Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 28 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry with some sunny spells. Rain this evening.

Today:
The morning will see some brief spells of rain in northern areas. It will be a largely dry day otherwise, with some sunny intervals from the late morning onwards. Breezy during the morning but winds weakening later. Feeling mild. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Further rain moves into all areas during the evening, falling heavily at times and clearing to the north by midnight. Showers will cross the region during the early hours. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Friday:
Wet initially in the south, with sunny spells and a few showers elsewhere. Some patchy outbreaks of rain through the day, but mostly dry. Showers for some during the evening. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Rain and snow for most of Saturday but turning dry later. A dry and frosty start to Sunday, with snow possible in the evening. Cold and dry on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.